1. An agreed upon vision and specific strategies for planning, development, and management of the project area.
2. An organization has agreed in principle to accept legal responsibility for management of the project site and has developed a framework agreement with ODOT for advancing the project forward (review City of Portland conditional agreement).
3. The Project Team has identified and prioritized achievable phases for project development.
4. The Project Team has identified substantial resources, both actual and potential, for initial capital development and on-going operations and maintenance expenses. These may include grants, agency in-kind contributions, private sector contributions, volunteer resources, and agreements with non-profit organizations.
5. Each team member and their respective organization has identified and made commitments to carry out specific actions that will cumulatively lead to the project's success.
